As a college professor, the town respected him. As a husband who could not pay his way - his wife despised him. As Peter Waring said bitterly after she walked out on him, "Maybe I'm a college teacher - but damn it all, I'm also a man! I want to live like a man . . . love like a man . . ." Yet how could he? Like most faculty members, he had to burn the midnight oil doing extra assignments to improve his lot in the world. For although his wife was rich, she wanted Peter to pay - or to play! When a college campus is rocked by violent revolt, it isn't always the students who are to blame. In this case, it started with Viviam Temple, a highly respectable English teacher - whose husband could no longer satisfy her erotic appetites. It spread quickly to Eric Bentley, another normally staid member of the faculty, who knew a good thing when he saw it - and saw Vivian at her naked best. Then it touched Barry Holmes, an A student who just happened to like doing nude studies instead of his homework!

Sixty years old in 1999, Mercury Marine is the world leader in the marine industry. The memory of its founder, Carl Kiekhaefer, lives on in the hearts and minds of engineers and boat enthusiasts alike. His manic genius and tireless energy found outlet in his need for greater speed, more features and higher value, first in outboards and then in stern drive products. Since Kiekhaefer's departure from the company in 1970, Mercury Marine has come into its own while holding onto those qualities inherited from its founder, qualities that abhor failure. Jeffrey L. Rodengen, author of Iron Fist: The Lives of Carl Kiekhaefer, continues to chronicle the fascinating story of Mercury Marine. The Legend of Mercury Marine details the company's struggle and ultimate triumph in this comprehensive, lavishly illustrated 225-page work.

The purpose of this manual is to provide recovery system engineers in government and industry with tools to evaluate, analyze, select, and design parachute recovery systems. These systems range from simple, one-parachute assemblies to multiple-parachute systems, and may include equipment for impact attenuation, flotation, location, retrieval, and disposition. All system aspects are discussed, including the need for parachute recovery, the selection of the most suitable recovery system concept, concept analysis, parachute performance, force and stress analysis, material selection, parachute assembly and component design, and manufacturing. Experienced recovery system engineers will find this publication useful as a technical reference book; recent college graduates will find it useful as a textbook for learning about parachutes and parachute recovery systems; and technicians with extensive practical experience will find it useful as an engineering textbook that includes a chapter on parachute-related aerodynamics. In this manual, emphasis is placed on aiding government employees in evaluating and supervising the design and application of parachute systems. The parachute recovery system uses aerodynamic drag to decelerate people and equipment moving in air from a higher velocity to a lower velocity and to a safe landing. This lower velocity is known as rate of descent, landing velocity, or impact velocity, and is determined by the following requirements: (1) landing personnel uninjured and ready for action, (2) landing equipment and air vehicles undamaged and ready for use or refurbishment, and (3) impacting ordnance at a preselected angle and velocity.
